This cellphone snapshot is the only trace left of Sabina after she was taken from her parents at the Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster, BC, on June 7, 2011.

Sabina was born on June 5 and was not allowed to breast feed or bond with her mother or father. She was kept away from her innocent parents and guarded in the nursery until a male social worker came to her mother's room at 10:30 pm to inform her that her child had been removed from the hospital.
